

Negotiators Tackle Airline Wage Issue In Settlement Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators met today to tackle the wage issue and other national disputes in the strike against five airlines which has grounded thousands of travelers at the peak of the summer vacation season.

No progress toward a settlement was reported in advance of the joint bargaining session scheduled for midmorning of the strike's fourth day.

This marks the first time negotiators have met face-to-face since more than 35,000 ground personnel walked off their jobs with the five major airlines Friday.

During fruitless weekend negotiations, officials of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists met in one conference room in the basement of the Labor Department building, airline officials in another.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, who shut-led between the two rooms, arranged the joint meeting, telling reporters that 10 hours of talks Saturday and Sunday had brought no progress.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz was keeping President Johnson posted on negotiations, Reynolds said. Johnson returns to Washington from his Texas ranch today.

Talks Resume On Sharp Note

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline strike negotiations reopened today on a sharp note that further dimmed hope of a quick settlement of the walk-out that started Friday.

Joseph Ramsey, vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and chief union negotiator, entered the conference room and said:

"The public should know that there hasn't been five minutes of real negotiating since this strike started."

"These carriers are standing pat, protecting their profits, waiting for the President or Congress to help them out."

"Union members on the airlines are asking to share in the profits."

into the night, he told reporters. "I should say with all candor that there is no reasonable basis for expecting any major developments in the situation."

As talks recessed for the night, Reynolds had a glum report. "I think the time has come for resuming joint meetings," he said. "I think it is extremely important that this be done."

Joint sessions had been held before the strike began.

Wages remain the major issue. The union is seeking increases of about 53 cents an hour over three years. The airlines have offered a three-year contract with a 30-cent raise.

A presidential emergency board recommended increases of 44 to 48 cents an hour. Top-rated mechanics now receive $3.52 an hour with pay ranging from $2.25 to $2.75 for janitors.

Issues Unsettled
Other unsettled national issues include vacations, holidays, health and welfare plans, pensions, overtime and hours.

The strike against the five airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — has paralyzed much of the nation's air commerce. Normally, the five carriers handle 60 percent of the domestic industry's business.

Non-strike airlines added extra flights after the Civil Aeronautics Board authorized emergency steps to meet the gap caused by the walkout. But the union moved to block the truck carriers from leasing planes to operating lines.

Union Vice President Joseph W. Ramsey said union members would not service the rented craft. The AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union said it was cooperating with the machinists.

Meanwhile, members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks went on strike against North-West Airlines because, the union president said, the company had tried to get them to assume some of the duties of machinist union members.

Northwest said it has not required members of the clerks union "to do anything behind their normal duties."

West Germany Election Lifts Socialist Power

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's political stock rose today after his Socialist party scored big election gains in West Germany's richest and most populous state.

The outcome of the balloting Sunday in North Rhine-Westphalia dealt a sharp blow to the prestige of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, whose Christian Democrats lost 10 seats in the state Parliament.

Majority Slim
The ruling coalition of Christian Democrats and Free Democrats emerged with the barest majority of 101 of the 200 seats.

The Socialists picked up nine seats from the Christian Democrats. With 99 seats in Parliament, they are now the strongest single party in the state. The Free Democrats took one Christian Democrat seat, winning 15, and the Christian Democrats dropped from 96 to 86 seats.

Heinz Kuehn, 45-year-old journalist turned politician, headed the Socialist ticket but Brandt, 52, was generally credited for the victory because of his oratory and tireless campaigning.

Brandt had been written off as a political has-been on the national scene following his second defeat as candidate for chancellor last year. Observers now predicted that he would head the Socialist ticket again in the 1969 federal elections.

Many believed that Erhard, who campaigned as actively as Brandt in the state, contributed to his party's defeat by antagonizing voters in some Ruhr communities. The chancellor's continuous references to his role in West Germany's economic miracle did not sit well in mining areas hit by unemployment.

Fight Expected
The results of the state election were expected to touch off a fight inside the Christian Democratic party. Some members want Erhard to dump the Free Democrats from his coalition and join with the Socialists, who control enough votes in the federal Parliament to block legislation requiring a two-thirds majority.

Even the name Adenauer failed to score in North Rhine-Westphalia. Dr. Max Adenauer, son of the former chancellor, was defeated in Cologne where his father first gained prominence as lord mayor.

Viet Nam Not Issue: Ford
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said again today that the Republican Party should not make Viet Nam an issue in the 1968 political campaign.

"If it is an issue, the American people will make it one," said Ford, emphasizing views voiced previously.

Republicans should do everything possible to get the war over as quickly as possible, Ford said, adding that "I applaud anything President Johnson does to get it over with."

Temperature Drops
The Minneapolis temperature dropped from 92 to 70 in 15 minutes during the storms Sunday night.

The storms then knifed into Wisconsin, overturning two airplanes at the LaCrosse airport along the Mississippi River. A funnel was sighted in nearby Harpers Ferry, Iowa; high winds cut power in Madison, Wis., the state capital, 100 miles southeast of LaCrosse, and winds of 40 miles an hour were reported in nearby Tomah.

Twisters slammed into Illinois early this morning, kicking up 81-miles winds. A tornado ripped the roof from a building in McHenry, northwest of Chicago, where there was also a report of a tornado driving a tree through a house.

Funnels were sighted in the Chicago area: 60 miles south near Kankakee; near Peoria in the center of the state, and in the northwest corner near Duquenne, Iowa.

Storms Strike
As the morning wore on, police reported a tornado at Saugatuck, Mich., 30 miles southwest of Grand Rapids.

Earlier, thunderstorms had raked central Kentucky's bluegrass area. Spurred by winds of 12 miles an hour the storms damaged buildings and ripped down power lines and tree limbs in Lexington, Richmond and Winchester. Damage also was reported in Louisville.

Severe thunderstorms hit New England from Newport, Vt., to Windsor Locks, Conn., with most damage occurring in western Massachusetts. An unoccupied home in Holyoke, Mass., was destroyed by lightning-caused fire. Lightning also set fire to the 150-foot steeple of the Haydenville, Mass., Congregational church.

SAGINAW (AP) — The Tuscola County cockfight laid an egg.

Just when the action of battling roosters was said to be getting good in a wooded area 30 miles east of Saginaw, an airplane swooped down and its loudspeaker blared at the 66 excited fans:

"You're all under arrest."

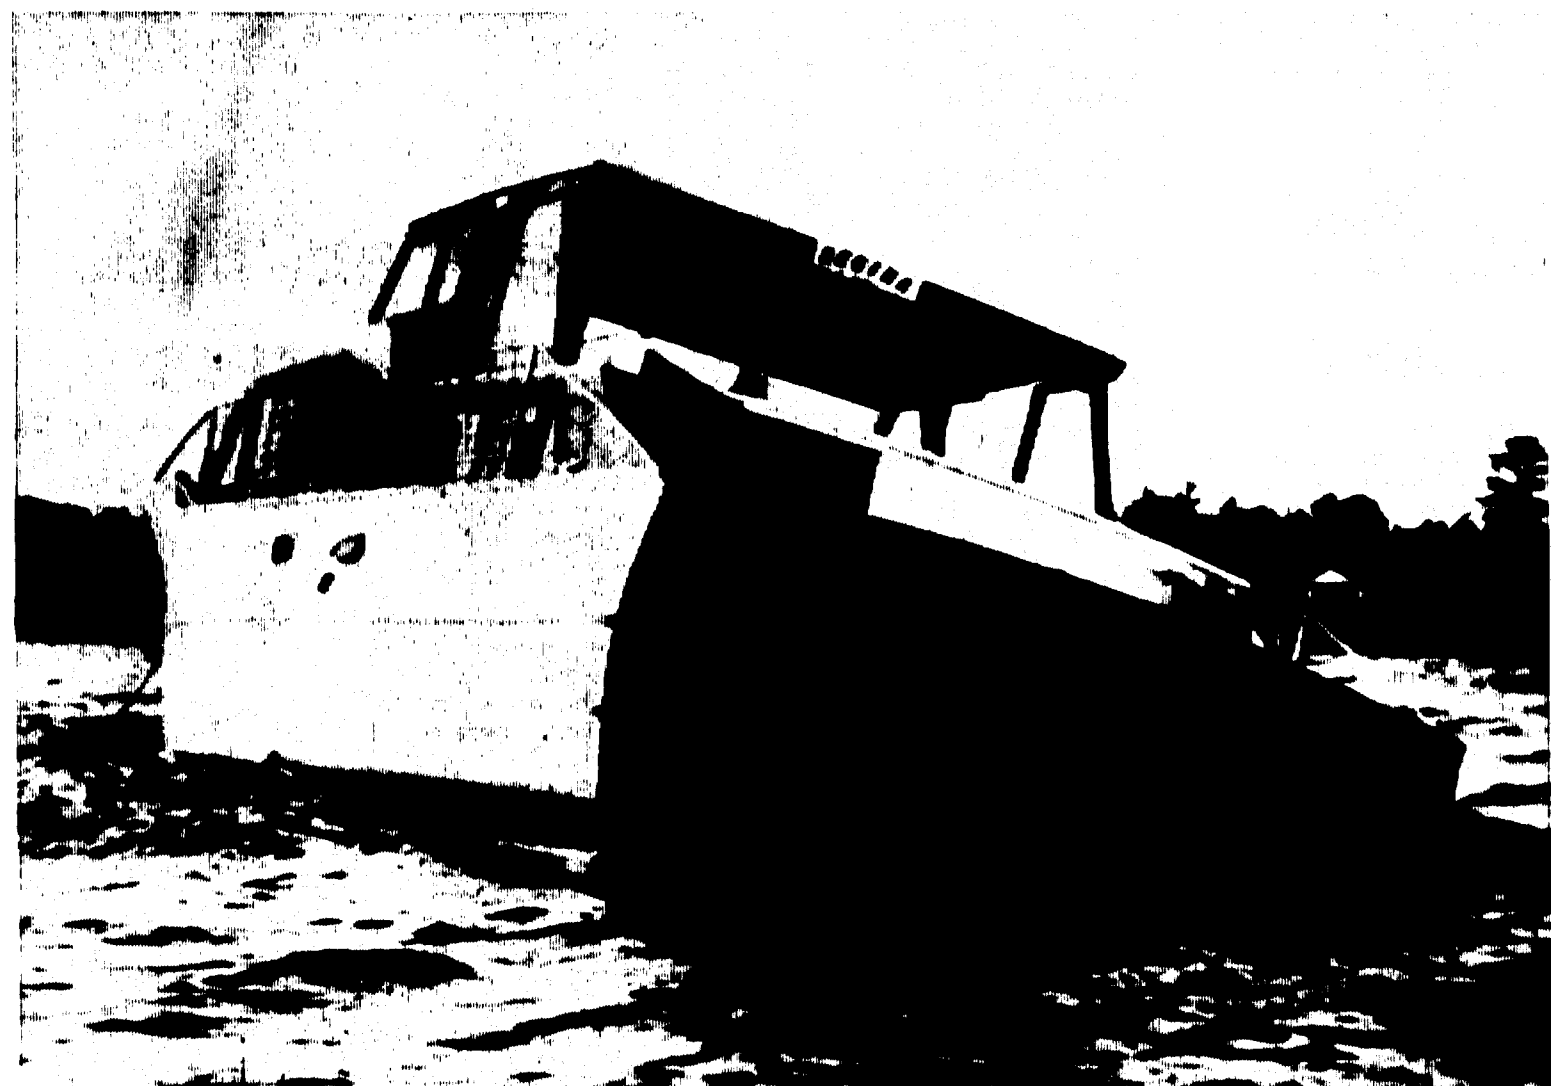

It didn't help for the fight fans to run.

Congress Tackles War, Foreign Aid
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, ending a 10-day vacation today, barely has time to put down its suitcases before shouldering the burden of major decisions on the Viet Nam war and foreign aid.

Both houses are expected to take up Tuesday the compromise version of a $17.4-billion bill to authorize procurement of military hardware and pave the way for an across-the-board pay raise for the armed services. Actual funds depend on appropriation measures to be considered later.

The authorization bill, substantially larger than administration recommendations, includes provision for several controversial items such as a nuclear frigate and a start on a second, and development of a new manned bomber and the Nike X antimissile system.

Helmeted Highway Patrol Routs Jail Demonstrators

Negroes Plan Test Swim-In, Read-In Today

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Steel-helmeted highway patrolmen, wielding billy clubs and gun butts, drove off some 300 Negroes demonstrating outside the Grenada County Jail, as sheriff's deputies scattered 100 jeering whites.

But civil rights leaders planned new demonstrations today — a swim-in and a read-in — in their test of public accommodations in this town of 7,914, halfway between Jackson — the Mississippi capital — and Memphis, Tenn.

The trials of some of the 43 civil rights workers jailed for staging a sitdown demonstration on a Grenada street come up today in city court.

Hearing Scheduled
Many of the Negroes dispersed Sunday from the jail area had come on a sympathy march for the 43.

Also scheduled today was a preliminary hearing for two white men arrested after shots struck near a federal official and two others as they were about to go into a Negro church late Saturday night.

A column of patrolmen, armed with shotguns, carbines and tear-gas grenades, were marched into one group of about 200 Negroes standing near the jail at dusk Sunday.

The troopers were ordered to disperse the crowd after about 50 Negroes first refused to move from the jail house lawn, then shifted to a nearby spot where 150 Negroes were gathered.

The 50 — the ones who staged the sympathy march — infiltrated the larger group as police brought up a bus to take them away.

Negro Clubbed
Patrolmen clubbed to the ground and arrested one Negro man who fought back when the troopers moved in.

When the first group had been scattered, the riot squad turned on another group of some 100 Negroes who were watching from a courthouse parking lot across the street.

The bystanders were still being hit with billy clubs and rifle butts by highway patrolmen when county policemen were ordered to disperse the noisy crowd of whites.

The whites fled and none was hit.

The 50 sympathy marchers, who actually rode in cars to the jail from a church after refusing to accept a police permit for a parade, clustered on the lawn of the new brick jail for 90 minutes before being told to leave.

Earlier, Sheriff Suggs Ingram announced that the two white men arrested had been charged with attempted murder. Later he said his announcement "was premature."

Shots Fired
None of the three white men attacked was injured.

The sheriff said the shots were fired at Henry Aaronson, 32, of Jackson, Miss., an attorney with the NAACP legal defense fund; James L. Draper, 51, of the Federal Community Relations Service; and Oliver Rosenberg, 24, a New York University law school student.

An automatic weapon was confiscated after the shooting.

Sheriff Ingram declined to release the names of the arrested men until he completed his investigation.

Tornadoes Rip Midwest Areas

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes roared through five Midwestern states Sunday night and early today, and other violent weather lashed sections of the nation from Idaho to New England.

No deaths or injuries were reported, but one twister demolished a Wadena, Minn., home and another flipped over two parked airplanes at La Crosse, Wis.

A number of funnels were sighted in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and at least one touched down near Forest Lake. A tornado also touched down near Rochester some 75 miles southeast of the Twin Cities. Damage by Minnesota twisters included a collapsed drive-in theater screen, downed power lines and shattered windows.

Woman Shot In Police Gun Battle
POST FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Lillian Jo Ramus, the young woman who charged out of a motel room, spraying bullets from a gold-plated M1 carbine at policemen and FBI agents, lay seriously wounded today but was responding to treatment.

One FBI agent was wounded in the shoot-out just before midnight Saturday before the 28-year-old woman fell with bullet wounds in the head and left hip.

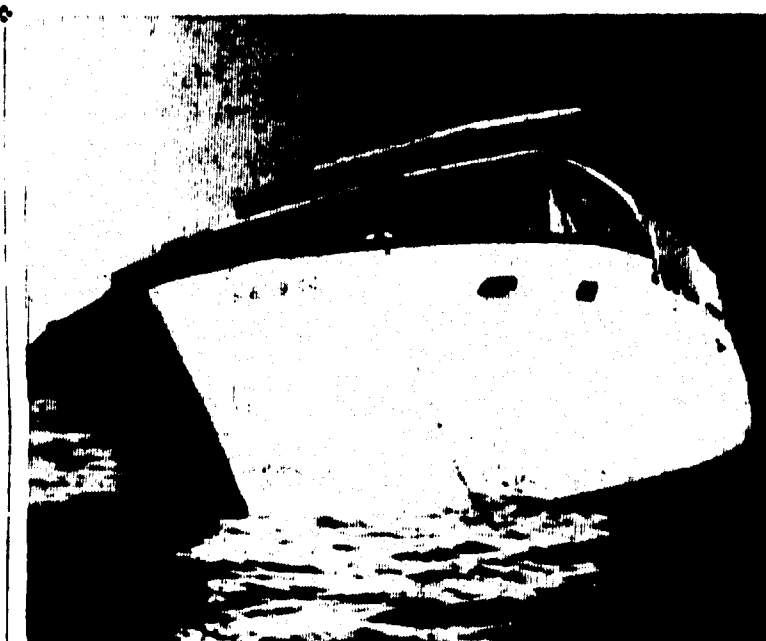

After emergency surgery at a hospital in Spokane, Wash., 20 miles away, she was taken off the critical list.

"After we told her to come out, she opened and closed the motel door several times, then fired a single shot inside the room, apparently to make us think she had shot herself," said FBI special agent Robert Rockwell of Coeur d'Alene, who was shot in the leg.

Pistol Is Rifle
"We told the officers over the bull horn to stay back, then she opened the door and started firing," he said. There were "almost a hundred" officers surrounding the motel, said the wife of the owner, Mrs. David Doty.

The sawed-off M1 carbine had been fitted with a pistol handle so it could be used as a hand gun. Her wild flurry of shooting sent bullets through a screen door into Rockwell's car and flattened the tires on her own automobile.

THE 45-FOOT twin engine yacht "Regina" owned and operated by Robert Smet, DePere, Wis., construction contractor, grounded on a sandbar in Big Bay de Noc near Tylene's Resort at Garden Corners Saturday night and was still there today, damaged extensively and turned over to the underwriters for salvage. Smet, with his wife and four other persons, were enroute from Marinette, Wis., to Gladstone when he got off course off Cedar River and wound up in Big Bay de Noc, where he anchored to go ashore and phone. The "Regina" slipped her anchorage and grounded on a sandbar, he told State Police of Manistique and hull damage filled the craft with water. The "Regina" still was aground today awaiting salvage. Viet Cong Hit Three Copters, 13 Men Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong shot down three American helicopters in South Viet Nam, killing four U.S. and nine South Vietnamese soldiers, while two more U.S. jets were lost in the air war against the Communist North, an American spokesman announced today.

A Navy fighter-bomber became the 285th plane lost in the 17-month air war against North Viet Nam early today. The bombing continued with an attack on another oil storage depot 130 miles west-northwest of Hanoi near the old French base of Dien Bien Phu. The pilots reported that two buildings were damaged.

Ground War Ebbs
Ground fighting in South Viet Nam died down, with both U.S. and Vietnamese headquarters reporting only light patrol contacts.

In the jungles northwest of Saigon, a battered Viet Cong regiment escaped toward the Cambodian border, leaving at least 238 dead after the U.S. 1st Infantry Division decoyed the guerrillas into a furious fight.

All 13 helicopter deaths came when a U.S. UH1D Iroquois was shot down 18 miles southeast of Ca Mau in southernmost An Xuyen Province, which has been relatively quiet in recent months. The U.S. spokesman had no further details.

The two other helicopters — both Marine CH34 troop-cargo carriers — went down in the northern part of the country 12 miles northwest of the Marine base at Chu Lai. There were no casualties in either crash.

88 Missions
U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 88 missions against North Viet Nam Sunday. In addition to the fuel dump near Dien Bien Phu, an oil storage area 32 miles northwest of Vinh was hit in the continuing American effort to cripple North Viet Nam's motor transport. Other targets included bridges, barges

Yacht Grounds Near Tylene's In Big Bay

By ROSE LA CHAPPELLE
GARDEN CORNERS — The 45-foot, twin-engine cruiser "Regina" owned and operated by Robert Smet of DePere, Wis., was damaged extensively when it went aground on a sandbar near here in Big Bay de Noc Saturday night.

Smet, his wife and three other persons were aboard the cruiser, which was enroute from Marinette to Gladstone and which was blown off course near Cedar River.

About 11 p. m. Saturday Smet anchored his boat about 600 feet offshore and his son, Steven, 11, and son-in-law, Dennis Malinski, also of DePere went ashore to telephone to DePere to report that they were going to be late in return because they had missed the Gladstone harbor.

Smet said he anchored in 3 to 7 feet of water and shortly after the two returned from shore the anchor slipped and the boat went aground on a sandbar. The craft draws 3.5 feet of water.

Smet said that the first sign of damage to the vessel was when his son stepped out of the bunk bed to come up on the bridge with his father to stand a watch and stepped into a foot of water in the boat. Smet said he kept all of the members of his party on board the boat and flashed distress signals by lights and horn and Frank Richards at the Bay de Noc Motel responded.

He and Lyle Deuparo went out in a small boat and Smet and his daughter, Mrs. Malinski, went ashore in the boat and other members of the party walked alongside the boat in the shallow water wearing life preservers and towing a life raft from the yacht for safety.

Manistique State Police who were called to assist estimated damage at $6,000. The boat has been owned by Smet for 8 years and he had been cruising on Green Bay waters for about 20 years. He is a construction contractor.

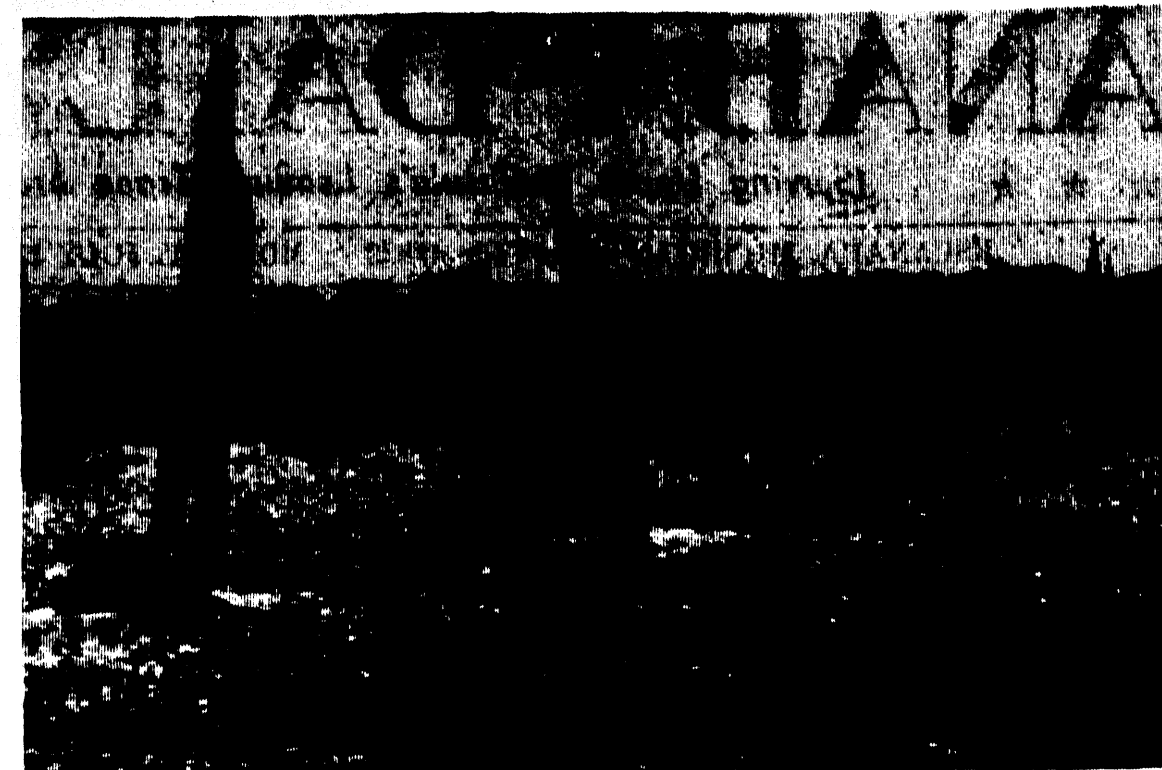

The boat drifted to within 200 feet of the shore on Saturday night and is lying on its side. Smet turned salvage efforts over to his insurance underwriter.

Smet said that he could not account for his being so far off course. There was wind and heavy swells, he said.

The cruiser grounded off the mouth of the Escanaba Yacht Harbor. Boyce finished the first series of races with 51 1/2 points while Kent Anderson was runnerup with 47 1/2. In the second race of the day Sunday, Boyce and Anderson finished in a dead heat at the finish line.

Royal Pregnancy Is Terminated

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Royal Palace announced today that Queen Fabiola's pregnancy had been terminated by an operation.

The palace had announced Friday that the queen, 28, expected a baby next winter. She was operated on Sunday.

King Baudouin and Fabiola, a Spaniard, were married on Dec. 15, 1960. She has had two miscarriages. The heir to the throne is Baudouin's brother, Prince Albert, 29.

A communique said the operation had been necessitated by blood in the peritoneal cavity — neoperitonium — resulting from an extrauterine pregnancy. It said the queen's condition was satisfactory.

DETROIT (AP) — A pair of bandits robbed Francis Woods Sunday but they were nice about it.

Woods, 45, of Detroit, was leaving the bowling alley where he is a clean-up man when he was set upon by the robbers. One bandit asked Woods how much money he had.

"Fourteen dollars," Woods replied. "OK," said the bandit, "We'll take ten."

Slaughter Rate Reduces Milk

In the early July market report from Dr. John Ferris, agricultural marketing specialist at Michigan State University, predictions are for a leveling off of the rapid growth of the general economy, for continued cutbacks in milk production, and a strengthening of fed cattle prices in the fall.

The cutback in milk production and the stepped up slaughter rates on dairy cows is continuing with only slight indications that the rates of change are slowing. U.S. milk production in May was down 4 per cent from a year ago (lowest for the month since 1940) compared with a 5 per cent decline for earlier months this year. Cow slaughter in major dairy states continues to run higher than last year.

The dairy situation has raised the support level to provide incentive payments to dairy farmers.

The cattle outlook continues to be one of growing concern about the rest of 1966, but increased optimism about 1967 and beyond. Supplies of fed cattle will be abundant this summer, reflecting this increased numbers of cattle on feed on April 1. Also, average market weights will be increasing.

Fed cattle prices are already reflecting the step-up in marketing as prices have declined about $8 since March. Prices on choice steers will likely move down to $28 and perhaps below for a while this summer. A seasonally strong demand for broiling meats will help offset the increased supplies of steer and heifer beef but will serve more to keep prices from moving much below the $25 level than to raise them.

By fall, fed cattle prices may be strengthening as marketing tapers off.

He spent four years in the Air Force, which experience included teaching the use of the A-5 radar system.

His bachelor's degree was earned at Northland College, Ashland, Wis., and his master's degree is from Northern Michigan University. He also spent two years at the North Dakota School of Forestry receiving the associate of science degree in forestry.

Verch is unmarried. He was born in Wakefield and graduated from high school there.

Gypsy Moth Busy Again

LANSING (AP) — The Gypsy Moth, a tree-destroying pest the State Agriculture Department thought it had wiped out in Michigan, has turned up again in northeastern Calhoun County.

B. Dale Ball, state agriculture director, said the infestation was the first known in Michigan since 1962. Damage was reported near Duck Lake, west of Springport.

"Generally the damage is already done for 1966," said C. A. Boyer, chief of the department's plant industry division. "No known control will be effective until next spring, when young larvae emerge."

"We hope to pinpoint populations now, and the public's assistance is requested," he said.

The moth has destroyed millions of dollars worth of trees and timber in northeastern states, but prompt action after its discovery near Lansing in 1954 prevented any economic loss in Michigan.

Earlier this year, the department reported the moth had been wiped out in Michigan.

Blistering Heat Will Continue Mercury Near 100 On Sunday

THE DESERTED STREET is caused by the 99-degree heat that blistered Escanaba's downtown section Sunday afternoon. The mercury climbed to an official 94, reported the

The Riviera of the North was sweating it out in Death Valley temperatures today.

And there's small chance that the sizzling heat wave will break for several weeks, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Sun-tanned bathers, sweltering on the beach sought relief from the heat in the shade or in the water.

St. Francis Hospital reported no cases of heat prostration so far this week. There was one case last week.

Offices and shops and factories in the area were hotly humid. There are few air-conditioned buildings in this north country, aside from some of the motels.

Tourists halted their travels in early afternoon and sought beaches and shore parks, where breezes helped ease the strain of the heat.

Water Use Doubles

Escanaba and Gladstone residents headed for the swimming beaches. At Escanaba the water temperature was a tepid 68 degrees. An estimated 800 bathers swarmed the area on Sunday and more were expected today.

The hot weather sent Gladstone people to Van Cleave Park where there was a near record attendance of hundreds. Thirsty people and dry lawns and gardens brought nearly the double consumption of water in both cities.

To keep Escanaba wet, the water utility set an all time high record for pumpage and consumption. Friday, July 1, for example, a total of 4,350,000 gallons was pumped to users. This is a per capita use of 280 gallons per day. The plant was designed to pump 100 gallons per capita.

In Gladstone, the normal consumption is 900,000 gallons a day but hot weather doubled this figure to 1.8 million gallons daily.

High Was 99

At 10 a.m. today in Escanaba the Weather Bureau reported the mercury at 75 degrees. There was humidity of 75 per cent and an eight-mile-an-hour breeze from the west.

The official high on Sunday was 94 degrees, but unofficially there were temperatures reported as high as 99 degrees. The mercury climbed to the latter figure at the State Bank of Escanaba.

The Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy skies and occasional thundershowers today. The high on Tuesday is expected to reach 95 with a low of 75.

The outlook for Wednesday is chance of showers and somewhat cooler.

In Lower Michigan the forecast is for temperatures up to 97 today with possible thundershowers. The high Tuesday is forecast downstate for 99.

Sight Tornadoes

The weather was preceded by a reported predawn tornado in Allegan County. The Allegan County office said a tornado was sighted at 3:15 a.m. in the Saugatuck-Douglas area but did not touch the ground.

Two funnel clouds were reported along Lake Michigan south of Saugatuck. A tornado watch was in effect until 4:30 a.m.

Storms, including a reported tornado 15 miles north of Ohio on the St. Joseph-Branch County line, swept Lower Michigan Saturday. Homes and cars were damaged.

Police Wound Marquette GI

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A young soldier was in serious condition at Ft. Gordon Hospital today from stomach and arm wounds received in an exchange of gunfire with an Augusta policeman.

Officers said Pvt. George M. Perry, 20, of Marquette, Mich., underwent surgery before he was transferred to the Army hospital.

Policeman James E. Warren said the shooting occurred while he was checking a report of a suspicious person in downtown Augusta.

Warren said Perry jumped from behind an automobile and began shooting, wounding the officer in the right hand. The officer, who is left-handed, said he returned the fire, hitting the soldier twice, but said Perry vaulted a seven-foot fence and ran a block before collapsing.

Police said the soldier was changed with a suit to murder and attempted car theft.

School Reorganization Vote July 25

Bark River Asks Esky School Tie

Bark River-Harris School District's board of education made the first move for public approval in the Monday, July 25 election on reorganization of the Escanaba Area School District to include the present Bark River-Harris District.

The Bark River-Harris Board last week announced that it had considered building a new high school for its district, joining with other districts in the top of Menominee County to form a new district, and joining the Escanaba Area District. It had decided that joining Escanaba promised the best school program for its children and recommended a "Yes" vote on reorganization to join Bark River-Harris to Escanaba Area on July 25.

The Escanaba Area Board of Education will meet on Tuesday evening and it may at that time take a public position on the reorganization. The reorganization proposal resulted from a study by a committee set up under a new state law to reorganize Michigan's school districts. The aim of the law was to reduce the number of school districts and by the resulting consolidations to improve public schooling.

Millage Jeopardized

Of concern to the Escanaba Area Board of Education is that the reorganization proposal on July 25, as set up, would cancel its present millage and make it necessary to vote new millage, jeopardizing the present funding of Escanaba Area school operations.

It has been suggested that if Escanaba Area voters vote "No" on the proposal to welcome Bark River-Harris on July 25, that the same merger could be effected by the process of annexation, which would not imperil Escanaba Area's millage. Escanaba, by this process, would invite Bark River to annex and it could do so by voting itself in. The objection here is that the Escanaba Area district would not vote on the proposal, only its Board of Education.

Meet Thursday

Supt. Richard Hendra of Bark River-Harris said a public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the elementary school to explain the reorganization plan.

Bark River-Harris District comprises Bark River Township in Delta County and Harris Township in Menominee County with 983 students enrolled, 55 per cent of them from Bark River. The district has a valuation of $41 million or $6.193 per child, compared with nearly $11,000 per child in the Escanaba Area District. This would weaken the per capita financial strength of the enlarged district, but enable it to get more state aid, says the Bark River-Harris Board.

Bark River-Harris voters would have to vote 4 mills on top of their present 3.5 mills for operation to match the Escanaba Area if they merged. The two-township district now levies 8.2 mills for debt retirement on its new $500,000 elementary school. The school is 1.5 miles inside Harris Township, which complicates any suggestion that the district be split to let Harris go to the proposed North Menominee County Area school district and let Bark River go to Escanaba Area.

Board's Position

Bark River-Harris Board said it recommends joining Escanaba Area because:

1. "The college-bound could benefit from the better physical facilities available in the Escanaba Area and Holy Name High School districts.
2. "Escanaba's schools offer a more varied program for the non-college bound student.
3. "The library facilities offered to students are much more substantial.
4. "The cultural programs in music, art, etc., are more varied.

5. "Opportunities for all students now attending the Bark River-Harris, Escanaba Area and Holy Name districts could be enhanced by the additional students." (Bus service to Holy Name is an attraction of the Escanaba Area alliance to Catholic residents. There are now 60 students from Bark River Township going to Holy Name and it is expected that there would be more if the district joined Escanaba Area.)

Must Pay More

The Bark River-Harris Board stated "Residents should not feel that 'going to Escanaba' would relieve them of their fair share of financing education for their children. Such a move would mean an immediate increase in operational taxes of 4 mills to keep the new district in operation. Any future building expansions would also have to be supported so that the higher quality of education to be offered all students would be possible.

"We realize that a favorable vote would necessitate adjustments for the resident of both areas. However if the state's attitude is that such a program of reorganization is inevitable, we might just as well take such action now."

Here, a Greek scientist, first conceived the concept that steam might be used for power, in the first century A. D.

Wrong Victims

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Four youths stopped two older men walking on the laketrail mall recently.

"We're going to mess you up unless you hand over some money," they threatened. The men handed over $46, then reached into their pockets again — and came up with guns and badges.

The would-be victims were city detectives who collared the youths.

Mental Health Costs

Counties of the Upper Peninsula are scurrying to find shelter under Act 54, which reorganizes Michigan's state program for care of mental illness.

Delta County's first big venture into a new program of public mental health services—apart from the old commitment of the mentally ill and alcoholics to state hospitals—was in its Child Guidance Clinic for emotionally disturbed children.

Delta County is associated with Schoolcraft and Menominee counties in the Escanaba Area Branch of the U.P. Child Guidance Clinic. It has resident staff and gets some itinerant services from the Marquette headquarters of the clinic. Marquette County later took the lead in the organization of a U.P. Adult Mental Health Clinic as a needed companion program to the Child Guidance Clinic.

Latest development is the projected creation of a Mental Health Center at Marquette which would merge both clinics and include the Psychiatric Unit at St. Mary's Hospital, Marquette. The Escanaba Area Clinic would be expanded.

The U.S. Public Health Service has granted $90,380 to this Marquette Center under authority of the Community Health Services Act to get it started. This sum would be for 75 per cent of the costs of staffing for one year. The federal aid would be reduced over a four year period and the "local" share proportionately increased. There would be no federal funds after the fourth year.

The "local" funds for the project would come largely from the state under Michigan Act 54, which provides 75 per cent of financing for mental health services, and counts on 25 per cent local (county) support for the rest.

The need for a broad program of mental health services is clearly evident, but Delta County doesn't regard the Marquette Center program as heaven-sent because it represents an unusual amount of bumbling, even for government. Delta County, first off, wasn't consulted on the plans until after they had been formulated. It regards the proposed formula of costs and services as discriminatory to its interests and it is concerned most of all about a cut-off of some mental health services (or at least no formal assurance of them) to Schoolcraft County, its partner in the Escanaba Area Clinic.

These troubles will be removed by conference, but there will remain an important work of education and organization for an adequate mental health program. The county boards of supervisors, for instance, will have to develop a new regard for the legitimacy of claims upon their funds for these services.

If the services bear out their promise they should provide governmental economies, because they aim to restore citizens to usefulness when troubled by mental illness, not to hospitalize them forever at huge governmental expense.

The program stresses the provision of mental health services at the community level. St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba, serving a very large area, should be a facility in a four county (Marquette, Alger, Delta, Schoolcraft) Center, set up for at least eventual staffing with a psychiatrist because of the existent need for such service in this area, as revealed by studies of our mental health needs. There's no such provision in the present Center project, which was hurriedly conceived in order to catch fleeting federal funds and which even its sponsors say may be deficient.

GOP Needs Leaders

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
LOS ANGELES (NEA)—The Republican governors' unhappiness that they are not in full command of their party—a condition openly voiced here at the National Governors' Conference—has deeper roots than are being acknowledged.

The decision of the GOP Governors' Association to meet twice yearly beginning next December reflects the immediate grumbling over the ineffectuality of this organization since it was given real life and visibility 19 months ago at Denver just after Barry Goldwater's defeat for the presidency.

Many of the Republican governors indicate they want the controlling role in the choosing of the party's next presidential candidate, the shaping of its platform and the steady offering of interim party positions on the major issues.

But talks among these governors and some of their key lieutenants suggest that merely shouting adrenalin into the feeble Governors' Association will not turn the trick. What they need in their stable are more and better horses.

Their present number—17—is seen by several leaders as inadequate to cast commanding weight in Republican councils. When they last exerted decisive influence, in the presidential nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, their company totaled 25. After his election they were 30 strong. They have not been so numerous since.

A few leaders here argue that numbers are not important so long as the party has governors—as it does now—in such big states as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan. But others disagree.

The point of having healthy numbers is that any leadership provided by a nucleus of big-state governors can be quickly translated into an effective and possibly commanding party coalition simply by calling upon like-minded, problem-solving governors in states all around the map. Without those numbers, the chiefs may have too few Indians.

Yet the thinness of their ranks is not the sole root cause of Republican governors' present frustration and distress. The truth, quietly conceded by some, is that the ingredients of real leadership are lacking—and have been for some years.

When Republican governors did a job for Eisenhower in 1952, they had no association, no regular common meetings, no strategy of coalition. But they were led by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and his celebrated strategist, Herbert Brownell. A tougher pair of convention delegate rustlers seldom has been seen on the Republican circuit.

The one thing those 1952 governors did in concert—the approval at the Houston Governors' Conference of a resolution supporting a crucial Eisenhower convention tactic—was engineered by Dewey and Brownell. Moreover, they set up the situation that made the tactic possible at all.

Today there is not a Dewey or a Brownell, or even a pale copy, in the pack. Five of the present 17 GOP governors are lame ducks who will be off the gubernatorial scene by January. Their interest in collaborative action is almost nil. Only two of the 17 spots are not up for grabs this November.

Those who are running this year are thinking about their individual campaign problems more than about their collective impact on the party. "Their minds just aren't on it," says an eastern governor.

The natural leader in terms of prominence is Gov. George Romney of Michigan. But he has two major handicaps. He is no master of political expertise and as a top 1968 presidential contender, cannot exert any kind of strong hand without seeming to serve himself.

Rhode Island's Gov. John Chafee, whose letter to his colleagues complaining of inaction helped stir the current ferment, has gunption but small state status. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York did not repair damaged prestige by absenting himself from this conference. Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio shows no interest. Attractive figures like John Love of Colorado and Daniel Evans of Washington simply do not have the necessary clout or expertise. The lack is big—and crucial.

Men's Paris Fashions

Pussycats Or Tomcats?

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP)—That man who cut the New Look for Christian Dior which revolutionized women's fashions and wrecked men's wallets shortly after the end of World War II is now cutting up a revolution of his own in menswear.

He intends to pack men into the cigarette look. He will divide them into pussycats and tomcats — terms expressed in French as Les Minets and Les Matou.

That man is Pierre Cardin. Don't say it can't be done. In the time since Cardin quit cutting for Dior and began creating for himself, his haute couture house for women has become renowned. This is especially so this year because:

(1) Beauteous Nicole Alphonse, wife of the former Ambassador to Washington Hervé Alphonse shocked fuddy duddies by taking over the management of his fashion empire and thereby becoming a business woman.

(2) His models wore next to nothing — and sometimes not even that — under his garments.

Yet, with all this fame his menswear business is five times as large. A half dozen years ago Cardin invaded the field tentatively with a few natty ties and slick shirts. He has become more emboldened with each successive, and larger, collection. Until now he is thought to be as mod as carnaby street, as foppish as greenwich village, as continental as Rome — all things to all men.

They laughed, some of those menswear buyers who jammed into his green carpeted showroom for a collection using male models. They laughed at the green stove pipe hats, posy red linen dinner costumes, and snickered at the pique shirts — and they bought.

Cardin who is superstitiously partial to the color green can happily add greenbacks to his pink frames now.

Not all of his menswear runs to purple pique shirts with white collars or blanket plaid steamer coats, though. For the quiet man, or necessarily conservative executive Cardin's collection includes shadow striped suitings and firm herringbone coatings, and pastel — but very pale pastel — linens.

For the older man — the tomcat, Le Matou, or would-be James Bond type — Cardin's clothes take on a bit more dash. Checks are checked, tweeds are tweeded, pastels sharper.

As for the pussycats — well anything gaudy goes in color, pattern, or style.

Generally, the new cigarette silhouette is a modified theme for all men. The pants run from slim to tight, ankle length for the pussycats, longer for the tomcats. Jackets are longer than usual with deep inverted pleated panel in back which replace traditional vents. Waists are indented.

His male models escorted some of his prettiest mannikins wearing geometrical pop art shifts. There were men in cardigan and sweaters and slack combinations, dashing raincoats, or leather storm flapped battle jacket.

The show ended with more laughs — a trio of pussycats off to the beach in hipster pants, bright shirts of orange, amethyst, or violet unbuttoned to the waist, and multi colored caps.

Another trio went off to bed, yawning, stretching as they

COOL CATS — Weather these lads outfitted in Pierre Cardin's new style: are young enough to be Pussycats or are mature enough to be Tomcats is not quite clear. Anyway, they're cool in natty new styles by the man who once worked for Christian Dior.

RACING

On July 2 we attended the races and they were very good and we enjoyed them very much.

But we noticed Sunday evening it was a different story. Why do some of the officials have to be so prejudiced? They should know that after 16 laps they can't have a restart. This is the first time we saw this happen. And we hope it's the last. We've seen where you can have a restart only if there is a serious accident on the track and the ambulance is called out.

It's unfair because the one who's half a lap ahead will have to lose it and the second will gain the advantage.

Maybe they favor some of the drivers more than others; it sure seems that way.

Are you going to do the same to some of these drivers (and local ones) from out of the state? And give them a deal like what happened the other evening? We saw the same thing pulled before and the date was Aug. 18-19, 1962. The drivers never came back.

We noticed last year there were a few race deals pulled on the Canadian drivers.

We noticed where you disqualified a car and suspended the driver for two weeks. Why didn't you check the car carefully before each race and find the mistake rather than letting him race this long and win?

Why don't you check over No. 16? That's not stock any more. It's winning more races than any other stock. Racing is strictly a gamble and one can't win that many races.

The Doctor Ann Landers

Says: Fears Hubby May Be Hooked By Weed

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt
Although asthma is a disease that affects many adults, in most cases it has its onset before the age of 5. The first sign of asthma in most children is a recurrent cough. Later the coughing is associated with wheezing.

It is important to remember, however, that all wheezing is not due to true (allergic) asthma. It may also be caused by inhaling a nut, popcorn or other foreign body. When this is the cause, removal of the offender through a bronchoscope cures the wheezing.

In many cases of asthma one or more members of the victim's family have asthma or some other form of allergy such as hives or hay fever. An environment of emotional tension is an important factor in other cases. The immediate cause may be animal dander, house dust, a pollen or some food.

A study was made recently on a group of newborns who were closely related to asthmatics. One half were given the usual varied diet and the other half were given no foods containing cow products, chicken, eggs or wheat in their first nine months of life. In the next 10 years, five times as many on the varied diet developed asthma as in the group with the restricted diet.

Another factor in causing or aggravating asthma is repeated attacks of respiratory infection.

About 50 per cent of the children with mild asthma outgrow it by the time they are 15. If they have an associated eczema or hay fever, their chances of outgrowing the asthma are poor and if the victims are girls their chances are not as good as if they are boys. Those who have severe or frequent attacks usually have the disease throughout their lives.

The first step in the treatment is to find and eliminate — especially from the bedroom — the immediate cause of the attacks. This may be a chair stuffed with horse hair, a feather pillow, woolen clothes or a pet dog or cat. An often-neglected part of the treatment is to see that the child gets enough fluid. Daily doses of potassium iodide may help by loosening the secretions of the bronchial tubes.

For acute attacks inhalation of adrenalin through an atomizer usually gives dramatic relief. If the condition is persistent, small daily doses of cortisone may be required and in some children desensitizing injections may be helpful.

If your child has asthma you should avoid overprotecting him because this will add to his emotional problems as he grows older. When he starts to go to school you should tell his teacher about his condition and he should be allowed to take his medicine in school when it is needed.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married to Lee (made-up name, for nine years. We have four children and a nice home in the suburbs. Lee is a good husband and father and we have a happy marriage.

Tonight, by accident, I ran across some cigar paper for rolling your own. It was tucked in the back of Lee's desk drawer along with an envelope that had been taped and stapled. I opened the envelope and found some dried particles of what appeared to be a plant. It is dark brown in color and has some tiny seeds mixed in. Can this be marijuana?

I have not told my husband that I found the envelope and I don't know if I should. Please tell me what you know about marijuana and what I ought to do about it. — FRIGHTENED

Dear Frightened: Obviously, I could not attempt to analyze any substance without first seeing it, and in this instance, even if I saw it I wouldn't be of much help. I don't know what marijuana looks like.

If you take the contents of the envelope to an organic chemist for analysis and it turns out to be marijuana, prepare yourself for questioning by legal authorities. Possession of marijuana is against the law. It seems unlikely to me that your husband could be on pot and you would not know it.

This weed produces exhilaration which you would surely recognize as unusual behavior. Discuss the problem with your family doctor and accept his counsel.

Dear Ann Landers: Who is right? My husband's sister has two children who are in grammar school. Her son had a tenth birthday several days ago and my husband and I sent the youngster a very nice gift.

Yesterday we received a handwritten letter to "my dear Uncle and Aunt" thanking us for the "beautiful present." The stationery was folded in a sloppy, haphazard manner and the envelope looked as if he had carried it in his pocket for a week.

I showed the letter to my husband and he said he thought it was "fine" that the kid took the time and trouble to write a thank you letter. I said it was the very least the boy could do. I also said I thought his mother should have looked at the letter before he sent it, and corrected his spelling and instructed him to write it over.

Do you agree with me? — OLD WORLD THINKER

Dear Thinker: No, I do not agree with you. The child's note was an expression of appreciation. He thanked you in his own words — in his own way. For a 10-year-old, "Uncle and Aunt" isn't too bad. You should see the letters I get from high school kids complaining about "kerfuffle" and not enough "freedom."

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl who is heartbroken. I went with Bart for six months. I knew the minute I laid eyes on him that he was very mixed up. I was his psychiatrist, his mother figure, his sweetheart and his parole officer. I was also his banker. He still owes me $9.00.

After I gave him everything he wanted he told me that I was too bossy and then he dropped me for another girl. He needs me but he doesn't know it. Please tell me how to get the message across to him. — LINDA

Dear Linda: Never mind about getting the message across to him. Concentrate on the message he got across to you. You need this fellow like Custer needed more Indians. Consider yourself lucky to be rid of the guy.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 25c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Death Claims Andrew Olson

Andrew Olson, 83, of Rte. 1 Gladstone died at 7:20 p.m. Saturday at St. Francis Hospital where he had been a patient for five days.

He was born in Sweden on Oct. 10, 1882 and had been a resident of Rte. 1, Gladstone for the past 60 years. He retired in 1949 from the C. & N. W. Railroad as a top dock worker. Mr. Olson was married to the former Hilma Nelson in 1908 and was a member of the North Star Lodge.

He is survived by his widow, Hilma, two sons, Henry of Hemet, Calif., and Melvin of Gladstone; two daughters, Mrs. Irving (Vena) McMartin of Portage, Mich., and Mrs. Clyde (Ethel) Collins of Joliet, Ill.; one brother, Mons of Miltona, Minn., one sister in Sweden, 16 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 p.m. today and complete funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the funeral home with the Rev. Erland Carlson officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Hoffa Correct, Romney Agrees

LANSING (AP) — Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa was right when he said Republican Gov. George Romney has done more for labor in Michigan than did former Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Romney said today.

"I don't approve of many things about Jimmy Hoffa," Romney said at his news conference, "but it is refreshing to see a labor leader acknowledge what has been done."

Hoffa made the statement earlier this month, and it was attacked immediately by House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit.

No Argument
"But look at the record, and I don't think there'd be any question but that Hoffa was right when he said that," Romney said. Glancing at an old speech to refresh his memory, Romney said:

"When I took office we had no minimum wage; today we do. When I took office we had no construction safety program; today we do. Our workmen's compensation payments were the lowest of any industrial state; today, they're the highest. Our unemployment compensation had failed to keep pace with the cost of living; weekly payments are 25 per cent higher now than when I took office."

When he took office, Romney said, the state was "in a battle over the Ford-Canton question (the question of whether a firm had to pay unemployment benefits to workers who were laid off because of a strike by other workers)."

Resolved Question
"We (Romney and Michigan's former Republican-controlled Legislature) resolved that question by getting amendments that treated those thrown out of work on a fair, public-interest basis," he said. "And the fact that the Democrats have controlled the Legislature and have not changed our revised law, would seem to indicate that we did as fair and equitable a job as I said we did."

Other accomplishments, he said, included changing state law to allow public employees to join labor unions and bargain collectively and the creation of a new, strong State Labor Department.
About half of these accomplishments, he acknowledged, were brought about under the Democratic-controlled Legislature in the past two years.
"But much of this was accomplished in my first two years in office — when the Legislature was controlled by Republicans," he said.

Paralyzed Star Struck, Killed

DETROIT (AP) — A 71-year-old former silent movie stunt man who claimed to have hitchhiked 25,000 miles across the country in a wheelchair was killed here Saturday night by a hit-and-run driver.

Ralph A. "Daredevil" Miller of Providence, R.I., who doubled for Tom Mix and Harold Lloyd in the silent movies, was in Detroit as an advance man for the Paralyzed Veterans of America convention which opens here July 18.

Police said Miller had almost completed crossing a street in his wheelchair when he was struck. He was alone at the time.

Miller, a veteran of World War I, had been confined to a wheelchair since 1931 when he was injured while performing a stunt at a carnival in Mississippi.

That accident happened while he was trying to extricate himself from a straight jacket while hanging from an inner tube which dangled from the top of a water tower. The tube broke and he plunged 78 feet to the ground.

The Wayne County medical examiner's office said Sunday night that no funeral arrangements had been made as yet.

Captive Whale, Picture Star, Drowns In Pen

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Nannu, the gentle world-famed killer whale who became a motion picture star and a subject for many scientific studies, is dead.

Ted Griffin, who bought the 42-ton, 20-foot whale from two Nannu, B.C., fishermen and brought him to Seattle for a marine attraction, said the friendly beast apparently drowned when he dove under a float at his waterfront pen and got caught in a net Saturday night.

Griffin said Nannu had been acting odd for a week or so. He said summer is the whale mating season and that the big mammal, which had to come up for air from time to time, may have been trying to escape when he became entangled.

It was the first time a killer whale had been kept alive for any length of time in captivity.

Eat With Eyes

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, (AP) — "People eat with their eyes," claims Dr. Edward E. Burns, Texas A&M food technologist.

Dr. Burns said previous associations and connotations of a food decide whether an eater likes or dislikes it before a morsel ever touches a taste bud.

MUCH ABOVE normal temperatures and moderate rainfall are forecast for the Great Lakes region for the period through July 31, the U.S. Weather Bureau reports.

Hospital Nurses Resign In Mass

CASTRO VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A mass resignation of the 243-bed hospital, Castro Valley's Eden Hospital registered nurses, seeking higher wages and better working conditions, has drastically reduced the hospital's services. Surgery has been canceled.

Ralph Hartley, a negotiator for the striking nurses, said "the patients will be truly abandoned" if negotiations fail to lift nurses from "the lowest paid professional group in the country."

The hospital called in its 18 supervisory nurses for emergency duty.

Nurses at 11 San Francisco hospitals and 19 hospitals in the East Bay area supported the Eden nurses and threatened to use the same resignation tactic in new contract negotiations.

The nurses are seeking a beginning salary of $644 a month and a minimum after 10 years of $710. They rejected proposals of $505 for beginners and $663 for 10-year nurses. Present salaries at Eden range from $425 to $485.

Ball Diamond Lost To Birds

NORVELL (AP) — The State Conservation Department says this town's little league baseball field is for the birds — and many of the little leaguers and their parents feel the same way about the department.

Meanwhile the youngsters of this Jackson County community are looking for a baseball field to call their own.

The department acquired their old four-acre diamond a few years ago and it became part of an 1,800-acre wildlife refuge. The site itself is classified as a nesting area for birds.

And the department says it's going to keep the land.

Norvell residents have written letters and sent a petition to Gov. George Romney asking to have the four acres back. Romney referred the petition to the department.

"The four acres we are asking to use are just a drop in the bucket," said Jake Hage Jr., one of the parents.

Residents also claim the former field doesn't make a good nesting area anyway. It's next to a heavily traveled road, they say, and dogs and horses roam the property.

Robert Huff, department game biologist, said giving up the site might set a precedent and lead to a land grab by other groups.

"Our policy is buying land, not giving it away or selling it," Huff said.

Meanwhile, the youngsters of Norvell have been playing their Babe Ruth League games on their opponents' fields.

Cavanagh Attacks Soapy Statement

By The Associated Press
Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit Sunday termed a G. Mennen Williams' statement on economic policy an attempt "to dampen the current prosperity."

Williams, who is opposing Cavanagh for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, appeared on a television interview in Detroit Sunday.

Cavanagh said that in the statement Williams called for increasing taxes, holding back wage increases and imposing higher interest rates on borrowing.

He called on Williams to "explain his statement or withdraw it." Cavanagh called such measures attempts "to dampen the current prosperity."

Boat Runs Wild At Beach Front; No One Injured

A power boat towing a water skier dumped its driver and went on a circle tour of its own until it swamped at the Gladstone beach front Sunday evening.

James Valiquette of Escanaba and his brother, Orvis, were thrown from the boat when they had to turn suddenly to avoid an obstruction, they told Gladstone police.

The boat continued at high speed in gradually smaller circles until it swamped. The beach area was cleared of bathers until the danger was over. No one was injured.

Detroit School Accreditation Is Threatened

DETROIT (AP) — The removal of Arthur T. Carty as principal of Detroit's Northern High School may result in the loss of the school's accreditation, it was learned Saturday.

The Michigan committee of the North Central Association sent a letter July 5 to Detroit School Supt. Samuel M. Brownell warning of the possible action.

The association rates high schools in the Midwest. Graduates of nonaccredited high schools could have trouble entering association-rated colleges and universities.

According to the letter to Brownell, the committee had "discussed thoroughly the resignation or relocation" of Carty and found "violations of criteria."

The 64-year-old Carty was removed April 29 after pupils staged a four-day boycott of classes to back their charges that the school had deteriorated under Carty. The school is predominantly Negro.

They are Charles Marohnic, Leo Masto, Donald Rushford, Rudolph Norman and Norman LaPalm, all of Escanaba, Roy Underwood, Rte. 1, Rock, and John Brown of Gladstone. Reds Tell Cong To Fight Alone

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China told the Vietnamese Communists today to rely on their own strength in their fight against the United States in Vietnam. Peking appeared to be saying it will not send volunteers.

The official newspaper People's Daily in an article broadcast by the New China News Agency said, in part:

"The people should and can only rely on themselves to make revolution and wage people's war in their own country, since these are their own affairs. No outside aid can replace their struggle. Whatever its amount, it is only auxiliary."

"To make and win revolution, the people must unswervingly rely on themselves and be prepared to carry on the struggle by themselves should all material aid from outside be cut off."

The People's Daily said Communist China is prepared to render aid to the North Vietnamese Communists and the Viet Cong but declared that the Vietnamese should not depend on help from the Soviet Union.

Linda Sjoblom Bride Of Gerald V. Salmi

Miss Linda A. Sjoblom of Romeo, Mich., became the bride of Gerald V. Salmi, Washington, Mich., on Saturday, June 25 during a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. at the Bethany Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

The Rev. Toivo Miettinen solemnized the marriage vows. Parents of the bride are Mrs. Leonard Koski of Wakefield and Donald Sjoblom of Pontiac.

Soloist was Mrs. Emil Kelto of Bessemer and she sang a Finnish hymn, "Kaikki Paivas Saroo Han," and "Oh Perfect Love." Mrs. Alli Jarvi of Wakefield was organist.

Peau de Soie

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length bell shaped gown of peau de soie with a long sleeved over jacket of Roschel lace and a long chapel train.

Her veil of illusion, was attached to a circular headpiece of matching peau de soie and lace with pearl beading. White satin shoes completed her attire. The gown and veil were made by Mrs. Ilma Cooper, aunt of the bride.

The bride carried a colonial bouquet of miniature red roses and white carnations with white streamers and rose buds.

Margaret Koski of Ann Arbor, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Sylvia Koski, of Wakefield, was bridesmaid. The attendants wore blue floor length bell shaped gowns styled similar to the bride's.

Matching blusher length veils and bouquets of pink and white daisies with yellow rosebuds completed their costumes. Their dresses were made by the mother of the bride.

Robert Salmi, Saginaw, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and Richard Rademaker of Marquette was groomsmen. Ushers were Allan Salmi of Marquette, cousin of the bridegroom and Harold Vick, Washington, Mich., cousin of the bride.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was held at Brown's Cafe in Bessemer with 25 persons attending. The wedding reception at the church parlors followed the wedding ceremony. Punch was served by Karen Niemela of Wakefield. Christine and Charlene Drier of Wakefield were in charge of the guest book.

The wedding cake was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ilma Cooper of Utica and was cut by the groom's sister, Mrs. James Larson of Iron Mountain. Mrs. Harold Vick and Mary Alice Holland of Washington, Mich., were in charge of the gift table.

A reception for the newlyweds was held at the Rock Faith Lutheran Church parlors on July 2. After a wedding trip around Lake Superior and into Canada, they will reside at 5865 Cathay in Washington, Mich.

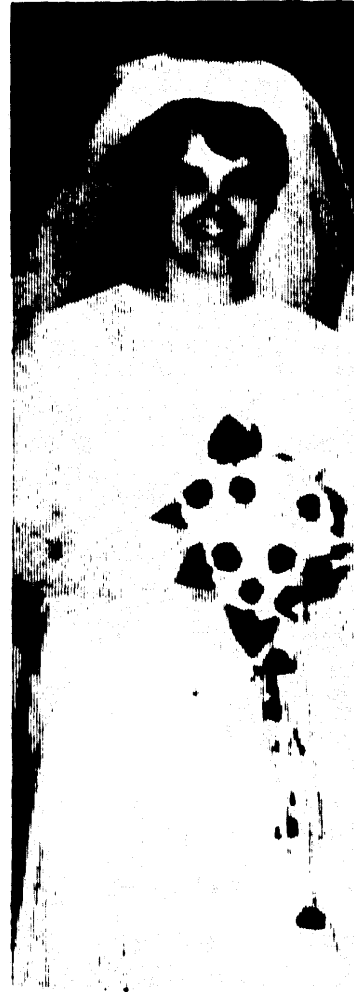

The bride is a graduate of Wakefield High School and a 1965 graduate of Northern Michigan University in Marquette. At present she is a teacher at the Romeo High School in Romeo, Mich. The bridegroom, a 1958 graduate of Rock High School served three years in the U.S. Army, and is now employed at Control Data, Holly Computers in Rochester, Mich.

SELECT SHAMPOO CAREFULLY

A woman who spends much of the summer outdoors may need to change her shampoo. Sun and wind combine to play havoc with hair, often causing excess dryness. Select a creamy shampoo that has special conditioners — a shampoo to cleanse hair thoroughly with-out stripping it of natural oils. A cream rinse also helps make hair more manageable at this time.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"The tragedy is it's her dialing finger."

MR. AND MRS. Herman Kleiman of Wilson announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosella, to Eugene Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hill of Green Bay. The bride-elect is a graduate of Powers - Spalding High School and is presently attending the University of Wisconsin, Green Bay branch. MRS. TONY CASS is shown with Tri Club champion Jerry Martin after presentation of the Tony Cass Memorial Trophy at the close of the annual tournament at Highland Golf Club Sunday. Martin played brilliant golf in the torrid weekend weather to edge Dave Friets, also of Highland, by a single stroke to retain his championship. Jerry Martin Keeps Tri-Club Golf Title

By ED MCCARTHY

Jerry Martin of the Highland Golf Club continued his reign as Tri-Club champion with a brilliant one-stroke victory over fellow Highlander Dave Friets.

Martin was extremely sharp throughout the tourney, firing par rounds of 36 in the first two matches Sunday, and finishing with a one under par 35 for a 27 hole total of 107.

Friets got off to a bad start in his first round Sunday, going three over on the first three holes. However, he finished with a 38 for the round, and came back with a two-under 34 to match Martin at 72 going into the final nine holes. His par round of 36 gave him a total of 108 for the 27 holes.

The only other golfer who really gave chase in the Championship Flight were also Highlanders, Jack Smith finishing third at 111 and Barney Barnhart finishing with a 114 total.

Also in the running in the top flight were Elmer Swanson, Harold VanEtten and Bob Turner of the Country Club and Ace Mikoych of the Highland.

The hardest round of the tournament was turned in by Don Feller, who battled Saturday's heat and high winds to card a three-under, par 33, as he shot four birdies and one bogey in the round. Matched with an opening round of 38, his 71 total gave him medalist honors for the event.

Highlight of the tournament was the presentation of the Tony Cass Memorial trophy by Mrs. Joyce Cass, wife of the late Country Club ace. The trophy will be presented to the Tri-Club winner each year, and will remain in the clubhouse of the remaining golfer.

Don Scott, president of the Country Club, introduced Mrs. Cass, and also spoke of the acquisition of the trophy. Scott stated that the Tri-Club had always been one of Cass's favorites, and because of this it seemed only fitting that a trophy in his honor be presented.

Winners in the flights as follows:

All-Stars To Clash Tuesday

Many Scores To Settle By American Leaguers

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The embarrassed American League, winner of only one of the last nine All-Star baseball games, is ready to go all out Tuesday against the favored National League's impressive array.

The National Leaguers have been taking bows for winning both the World Series and the All-Star Game in each of the last three years. Overcoming a 12-1 edge in the All-Star series once completely dominated by the American League, Willie Mays and Co. have taken the lead 18-17.

Sam Mele, the Minnesota skipper who will boss the American League, sounded the word before he left home.

"I'll use my eight starters all the way if it will help us win," said Mele. "I'm going to win this one. We'll play to win."

Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers can be counted upon to give his sluggers a similar message.

In the old days it was common for most of the pitchers to work the Sunday pitchers to the game. That no longer is the case.

Five of the 16 pitchers were used Sunday but the only starters were Steve Barber of Baltimore on the American side and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia on the National side. Pete Richert of Washington, Claude Raymond of Houston and Phil Regan of the Los Angeles Dodgers were used in relief.

Regan was a late addition to the staff. He was named by Alston to take the place of Bob Gibson when the St. Louis Cardinal ace came up with a sore elbow. Sam McDowell of Cleveland, who lasted less than an inning Sunday, also bowed out with a sore arm and was replaced by teammate Sonny Siebert.

Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, the majors' top winner with a 15-4 record, worked Saturday. So did Gaylord Perry of San Francisco and Billy McCool of Cincinnati. Juan Marichal of San Francisco has rested since pitching a three-hitter for his 14th victory Friday. Bob Veale of Pittsburgh has not pitched since Thursday.

Three American League starters worked Saturday — Gary Bell of Cleveland, Catfish Hunter of Kansas City and Denny McLain of Detroit, the league's big winner with a 13-4 record. Jim Kaat of Minnesota and Mel Stottlemyre of New York were used Friday.

Both managers were scheduled to name their pitchers and batting orders at a morning news conference.

Alston, who had been undecided about coming to the game due to the illness of his mother, is expected to be on hand. If he cannot make it, Herman Franks of the league-leading San Francisco Giants will take his place.

Injuries struck the National League starting lineup forcing Alston to replace second baseman Joe Morgan of Houston with switch-hitting Jim Lefebvre of his Dodger club. Morgan suffered a broken knee cap a week ago.

Ron Santo, the Chicago Cubs' third baseman, retained his starting job, wearing a special face guard to protect his injured cheekbone.

The Nationals have the majors' top home run hitters in Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves in the outfield along with marvelous Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh.

Bobby Iversen of Escanaba moved into the second heat lead in the first lap and maintained the lead, Art Richter of Escanaba was second and third, John Tuominen of Neenah grabbed the lead in the first lap of the opening stock heat and took the checkered flag. Dave Sullivan of Escanaba was second and Bill Miller of Escanaba third.

The second stock heat was won by Fred Horrocks of Gwinnett who took the lead in the third lap and was never headed. Spencer Bichel was second and Arnie Gagnon of Escanaba third.

Tom Warren looked like a sure winner in the final stock heat, but spun out in the eighth lap and gave the lead to Sonny Richter of Escanaba who went on to win. Don Bugay of Escanaba was a close second, with Duke Gardner of Escanaba third.

The modified semi-final started with eight cars, but only two finished. Herb Iversen was the winner, with Duane Edwards of Wells second. Doug Gutzman and Orvis Valiquette of Escanaba were in a constant battle for the lead. Coming in front of the grandstand for the twelfth lap, Gutzman's brakes failed as he was making a bid to take the lead, and he sideswiped Valiquette. Both cars went into the guard posts. However, no one was hurt.

Bill Ansell, Milwaukee, racing locally, took the winning flag in the modified final. He got a lot of pressure from Bobby Iversen who started to close late in the race. Iversen took second, Gerry Richter, third and Art Richter fourth.

The fifteen lap stock semi-final was won by John Steve of Neenah, who took the lead in the first lap. Fred Horrocks of Gwinnett was second. Spencer Bichel third and Dennis Kivonia of Wells fourth.

The stock final had to be restarted twice because of car stalling in the center of the track. Tom Warren of Escanaba grabbed the lead and stayed ahead of Sonny Richter for the win. Jim Delgado of Walpole was third, and Don Bugay of Escanaba fourth. Next races will be Saturday night. Wednesday, July 20, an extra night of racing, featuring a demolition derby, will be held.

Credit Union Wins Opener

Escanaba Credit Union and Kiwanis Little Leaguers battled extra innings Saturday night before Credit Union won 7 to 6. Mike Winters was the batting star of the evening with 3 hits in 4 trips while Brian Douglas came on in relief in the final inning to strike out the side and preserve the win for Credit Union.

Tonight the Credit Union will be back in action against the fourth place Eagles, meanwhile, an invitational tryout continues daily at 10 a.m. Bob Jensen will be this year's manager.

Squeeze Try Irks Friend

By The Associated Press
Veteran pitcher Bob Friend knows about pressure. But that extra squeeze put on by the Pittsburgh Pirates was just too much.

Friend, an ex-Pirate, became angry Sunday when the Pirates, leading by five runs in the eighth inning en route to a 9-4 victory over the New York Mets, tried to squeeze in another run. It backfired, but that didn't pacify Friend.

As he was leaving the field, Friend glared at the Pittsburgh dugout and snarled, "That's bush stuff, trying a squeeze when you're five runs ahead."

Pirates Manager Harry Walker shouted back and he and Friend started toward each other but were restrained.

After the game, Walker said, "Whenever the club I'm playing gives up and quits, that's when I intend to stop trying to score runs. Baseball is played to win, and that's all I have to say."

The Cincinnati Reds helped Manager Don Heckner pass an acid test by ending an 11-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Following the victory, the 55-

year-old Heckner chewed two tablets which absorb stomach acid and said, "My stomach's been jumping for 55 years. But this (the slump) hasn't helped any."

The Cincinnati victory enabled second-place Pittsburgh to close to within one game of the Giants in the National League.

Atlanta edged Los Angeles 2-0, the Chicago Cubs blasted Philadelphia 10-2 and Houston nipped St. Louis 6-5 in other National League games.

The Pirates broke a 4-1 tie with their five-run eighth. Roberto Clemente's single driving in the go-ahead run. After all the runs had scored, Friend looked on the field and said, "That's bush stuff, trying a squeeze when you're five runs ahead."

Pirates Manager Harry Walker shouted back and he and Friend started toward each other but were restrained.

After the game, Walker said, "Whenever the club I'm playing gives up and quits, that's when I intend to stop trying to score runs. Baseball is played to win, and that's all I have to say."

The Cincinnati Reds helped Manager Don Heckner pass an acid test by ending an 11-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Following the victory, the 55-

The Cincinnati victory enabled second-place Pittsburgh to close to within one game of the Giants in the National League.

Soo Opposes North Western Merger Proposal

Rail shippers and community leaders are being urged to take a long hard look at the proposed merger of Chicago & North Western, Chicago & Great Western, Rock Island and the Milwaukee Road to determine for themselves how such a colossus among railroads would affect area economics, marketing patterns and competition.

The contention that not enough is presently known about the ultimate effect of the merger proposed by Chicago & North Western — and that normal regulatory procedures aren't in this instance, suitable to the task of determining the economic impact of the merger — is contained in a discussion which is being sent to shippers, Chambers of Commerce, local and state government officials and others by Soo Line.

The discussion stresses these points:

1. With North Western's merger proposal now standing before the Interstate Commerce Commission as three separate cases, the ICC has no realistic basis for judging the impact of the merger on competition and the public interest. The three cases must be consolidated for hearing and decision because they are closely interrelated.

2. There may be no need for North Western's merger plans in the light of North Western's improved financial condition, particularly with the adverse effect the mergers would have on competition and on other railroads.

Economic Impact

3. The ICC won't be able properly to judge the economic impact of North Western's merger proposal without the benefit of an independent, impartial study which employs specialists in economics and transportation to help it resolve the public interest questions.

The Soo on June 16 asked the ICC to consolidate North Western's proposals for mergers with Chicago Great Western, Rock Island Lines and the Milwaukee Road into one proceeding and to institute its own independent, full-scale investigation of the economic implications of North Western's overall merger plan.

In its statement the Soo urges that shippers ask themselves how North Western's master merger plan would affect their abilities to compete and to reach markets; how wise it is to have one railroad dominate a territory to the detriment of competing carriers; and how the ICC is going to be able to process the three separate but closely related merger cases without consolidating them.

State System

The total merger plan of North Western would create a 22-state, 30,000-mile railroad that would dominate the distribution patterns within vast marketing areas. If all its mergers were approved, North Western would control all the feasible single-line routes between the Twin Cities and

A native of Shawano, Wis., Harbick received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Northern in 1957 with a major in retailing. Following graduation, he was associated with Burroughs Corp. in Peoria, Ill., and with WLUC-TV, Marquette, as an advertising salesman.

In 1959, he began a seven year association with Montgomery Ward & Co. Harbick is married to the former Mary Ann Hoffman of Gladstone, also a Northern alumnus. The Harbicks are the parents of two sons, Timothy, 8, and Mark, 5.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Harbick, 508 Arbutus Ave., Manistique.

Hawks, maligned as pests, prey largely on rodents and insects.

North Western has done very well financially in recent years without merger. It has become a profitable railroad and has invested many millions of dollars in chemical manufacturing companies.

State Farmer's Prices Up 10%

LANSING (AP)—The index of prices received by Michigan farmers as of June 15 was 249 per cent of the 1910-14 average, up 22 points or about 10 per cent from June of last year. The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said higher prices for wheat, dry beans, meat animals and milk were mostly responsible for the increase.

Gridder's Tackle Saves Girl, 17

LUDINGTON (AP) — Randy Seiy, a former high school football halfback from Ludington, made one of the toughest tackles of his life when he leveled Irene Albrecht—it saved her life.

Irene, 17, of Ludington, was camping with a group of girl friends at Ludington State Park on Lake Michigan. Standing on wet ground last Tuesday, she climbed into a house trailer. An electric shock swept through her body.

"I couldn't let go," she recalled in an interview Sunday. "It pained me all over my body."

Hunt Benefits For Farmers In Wisconsin Plan

MADISON — Wisconsin sportsmen will be assured access to additional private farm land, and landowners will receive federal payments for providing it, under a new provision of the Cropland Adjustment Program.

Farm owners whose land is already entered in the CAP program will be eligible for additional benefits on a per acre basis, by granting public access to their lands for hunting, fishing and hiking. Payments will range from 80 cents to $3 per acre, depending on need, local demand, and suitability of the land for recreation. An important factor will be its value as wildlife habitat.

Conservation Department personnel will make on-farm inspections to evaluate the acreage and establish payment rates, prior to signing of final agreements.

The Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service reports 2,915 farms in 71 Wisconsin counties enrolled in the CAP and eligible for the public access program.

Marines Flown To Summer Camp

DETROIT (AP) — More than 1,000 Michigan and Ohio Marine Corps reservists were airlifted Sunday to summer encampments in California.

United Air Lines said the 10 military charter flights which left between 4:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sunday represented the state's largest military airlift in peacetime history.

The airlift was completed despite a strike of the International Association of Machinists against United and three other major airlines operating in Detroit.

Twenty-nine members of the striking machinists union volunteered to work so the airlift could be carried out.

United said it flew five flights from Detroit with 524 marines, three from Flint with 266 Marines and two from Toledo with 244 Marines. All were non-stop flights to Los Angeles.

delay of a few more seconds could have meant permanent paralysis or death.

Park Supervisor Hank Burburg said Irene was hospitalized two days. He said the electric shock probably was caused by a short circuit in the house trailer's electrical wiring.

Are European Autos Safer?

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — The man who helped develop the Volkswagen and Porsche contends European cars meet higher safety standards than American automobiles.

Ferdinand Porsche Jr., head of the Porsche Automobile Works, said American-made cars are built to meet U.S. laws and road conditions and many are not up to the rigors of high-speed European driving standards.

Porsche made his comments in an interview published in the July issue of his company's magazine, Christophorus.

Brakes on American cars, he said, "probably are good enough for America in view of the speed limits." And for a top speed of 110 (kilometers per hour), the brakes drums of 10 years ago suffice, but that is contrary to what we regard as technical advances.

"We believe that we must build automobiles that can be driven with 100 per cent safety at their maximum horsepower capabilities. Our production series lie above the (safety) standards demanded by the Americans."

Porsche added that American automobile makers do not meet their own standards when more than one person is in the car being tested.

"That is particularly illogical," he remarked.

Byrd Forces Face Threat

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The conservative Byrd organization faces the stiffest opposition yet to its political power from the moderate-liberal wing of the Democratic party in Tuesday's primary.

Virginia voters, with the unique chance to pick both Senate candidates, have a choice from among the two men in office. Sens. A. Willis Robertson and Harry F. Byrd Jr., and challengers with state legislative experience who have come on strong.

A third race of almost parallel interest is for the 8th District House seat where Rep. Howard W. Smith, a powerful congressional figure as chairman of the House Rules Committee, is — at 87 — seeking a 19th term.

A challenger nearly 40 years Smith's junior, George Rawlings Jr., a Fredericksburg attorney, has goaded the old conservative to do what he has seldom had to do in recent times — get out and campaign.

Byrd, who succeeded his retired and now gravely ill father last November by appointment, is opposed by Armistead L. Boothe, a north Virginia attorney who served with Byrd in the state senate.

Robertson, at 79 the same age as Byrd Sr., is opposed by state Sen. William B. Spong Jr. Spong is rated as the strongest possibility to upset any of the three men running under the banner of the party organization established by Harry Byrd Sr. when he was governor of Virginia and the controlling faction in state politics for 40 years.

Spanked By LBJ Is Distinction But Not Unique

COTULLA, Tex. (AP) — During his swing through South Texas to view antipoverty projects, Sargent Shriver, antipoverty director, visited a Head Start program and was introduced to Dan Garcia, whom President Johnson taught in 1928.

"Dan has the distinction of having been spanked by the President," Shriver was told. "Well," replied Shriver, "he isn't the only one."
